
Note: The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) and the Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA) requires every school that participates in the National School Lunch Program (NSLP) and/or the School Breakfast Program (SBP) to establish a local policy [see FFA].

The Healthy, Hunger-Free Kids Act of 2010 (HHFKA) further strengthened this requirement in order to promote student health, prevent childhood obesity, and provide transparency to the public on school wellness.

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

The USDA website regarding the NSLP can be found at <http://www.fns.usda.gov/school-meals/child-nutrition-programs>.

The TDA website at <http://www.squaremeals.org/Home.aspx> provides guidance for Texas schools regarding meals, snacks, fundraisers, and the like.