PARENTS PROVIDE INSIGHT INTO PREFERRED LEARNING MODELS FOR THE 2020-2021 SCHOOL YEAR

In an effort to guide the District in preparations for the 2020-2021 school year, SFDR CISD principals and their staff have begun contacting parents to determine which of the instructional Models for Learning they would select for their students. After only one week of implementing these efforts, over 70% of the parents have responded and have provided an indication of which of the 3 models would be their preference for instructing their child for the 2020/2021 school year.

As of Friday, July 10th, only 38% of the parents polled indicated that they would physically send their child to attend in-school instruction in a traditional model on a daily basis. This means that 62% of our parents have opted for their child to be engaged in instructional learning by using a completely online or hybrid model of instruction.

SFDR CISD is hopeful that the remaining 30% of parents will respond to calls from their child's school before Wednesday, July 15th so that each school can begin preparations to facilitate the various types of models that will be offered and finalize their master schedule.

The District is also expected to provide a press release on Friday, July 17, 2020, which will include information and confirmation on training schedules for parents and students on the Google and Canvas platforms. The press release will also provide information pertinent to back-to-school protocols as well as information regarding orientation schedules for the various campuses across the District.

Parents who need more information or who have not provided their choice of learning model for their child's instruction should contact their child's school as soon as possible. Office phone numbers are listed as follows:
