Celebrate black history month!

February is Black History Month, try to think about some black historical figures this month and share their stories with friends or family.

It's Black History Month RBB Falcons!

(Ruby Bridges helped end segregation in elementary schools in the South)

Happy Valentine's Day RBB Falcons

-About this month-

Look back and think about a historical figure and what they did to change or inspire the world. For example, Ruby Bridges helped end segregation in schools at the tender age of 6. Ruby wasn't welcomed to an all white school because of the color of her skin. Many other people didn't want her to go to their school, but her courage made people think, "Why are we obsessing about color!" Ruby isn't the only one who helped end segregation, there was also civil rights leader, Martin Luther King Jr..

Our country would still be separated if it weren't for people like Martin Luther King Jr., Ruby Bridges and so many more people that decided to speak up for what's right even if it was dangerous. That's why Americans celebrate Black History Month!

Teachers say this was an amazing day gone down in history

Third Grade Made History

These are the pictures of the happy consumers

If you were absent on February 5th, you might not know how it was to be there and exchange your money for a item that you like.

Well, here are some things students at RBB Elementary had to say... A fourth grader was overheard saying, "This is amazing! I wonder how they came up with these ideas!" Other classmates said, "Wow, I love all these stands with all of these cool things." "Isn't this amazing how they came up with these ideas for their stands?"

Make sure to ask around students in your class what they thought. -Pita Wold- Edwards

Third grades amazing stands that left all grades amazed!

Third grade's seller and consumer day could not have gone better than it did that day. With students selling toys, candy, food, and much more. Some entrepreneurs that classmates remember the amazing day were, Mariah selling toys (like plastic turtles and cute plushies), Colt-Ryder selling sequence toys and slime that came with a free lollipop, and a shout out to Victoria selling delicious snacks!

Kindness Week

Friday 10th February 2021

"Practice random acts of kindness and senseless acts of beauty"

Random Acts of Kindness for RBB

A small act of kindness can really make someone's day!

Kindness for class examples:

- *Help a classmate in need.
- *Volunteer to clean up the classroom.
- * Checking up on a friend feeling down and share funny memories.
- * Hold open the door for a passing friend and compliment them.
- * Make a nice note for someone to brighten their day.
- * Participate in a food drive to help others in need.

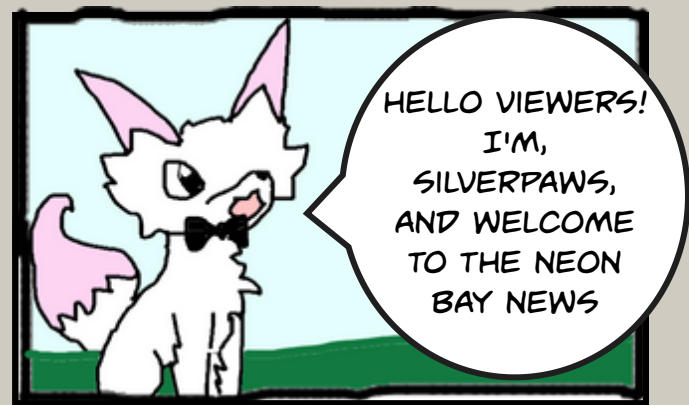

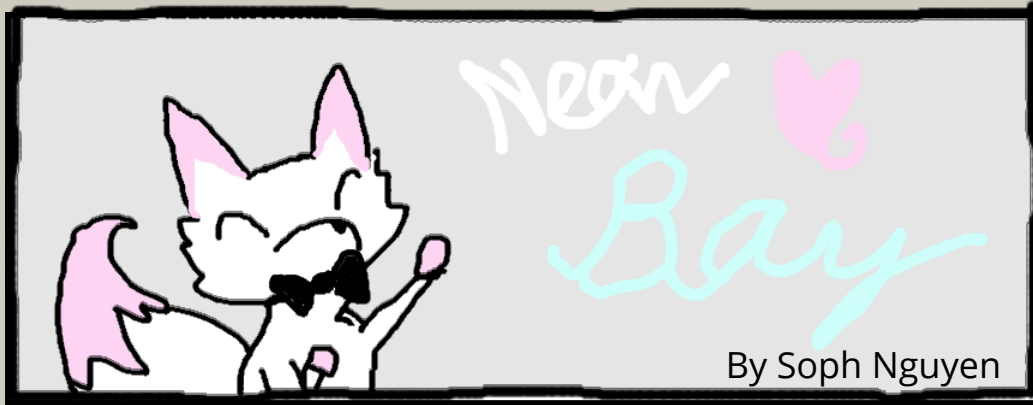

This week is... National Random Acts of Kindness Week! (N.R.A.K.W)
According to word.press.com, "It all started in a Sausalito, California, restaurant in 1982 when Anne Herbert scrawled the words "practice random acts of kindness and senseless acts of beauty" on a place mat. From there it spread to bumper stickers, quietly at first, but with all the powerful momentum of something important—calling us to lives of caring and compassion. Random Acts of Kindness, true stories of acts of kindness, was published in February 1993 and set off a chain reaction. Articles appeared in nearly every newspaper in the U.S., and hundreds of radio stations devoted airtime to the cause. Toward the end of 1993, a Bakersfield, California, professor gave a class assignment to do a random act of kindness—unleashing yet another flood of stories."

This week long celebration is not very commonly known among many people. So, as soon as you wake up, try thinking about what you can do for family, friends, or those in need of a smile. But remember, even when this week is over, you can always do something kind for anyone even when it isn't kindness week.
